

Multiple paths to the same personalized benefits experience for your employees.

Regardless of language, device, or learning style—whether employees are at home, in the office, or deskless—ALEX provides a benefits experience to engage every user. With ALEX, employees have the freedom to choose how they engage with benefits and the flexibility to change their minds. No matter what employees choose, ALEX's recommendations are powered by predictive analytics and behavioral science.

There are two ways to interact with ALEX.

Here's how ALEX's predictive analytics helps:

- ✓ No need to predict the future to pick the right health plan: Predictive analytics can help forecast unexpected costs.
- ✓ Consider your risk: Account for your unique risks and learn how to protect yourself when choosing a plan.
- ✓ Preferences and financial wellness: Take into account the different levels of risk and your personal preferences combined with how financially prepared you are to take on those risks when choosing a plan.
